IS THIS AN OFFICIAL STARBUCKS GUIDE?
No. This is an unofficial guide made by collectors for collectors. Any information given in here may be incomplete and/or incorrect.

THERE’S FAKE GUCCI, FAKE PRADA, EVEN FAKE FAKES. WHAT’S THE BIG DEAL? WHY DO WE NEED THIS GUIDE?
1. To keep things fun: Let’s have this guide, but apart from it let’s focus on what collecting mugs is all about: trade mugs and have fun.
2. To protect our community: If someone wants to buy himself cheap mugs which are fake, nobody cares. BUT some mug collectors are trading fake mugs to other people knowingly or unknowingly for real mugs. That has to stop.
3. To protect our investments: Nowadays, even a very rare mug has been sold by a fake mug seller via ebay. Although the mug has not yet been confirmed to be a fake, counterfeits of such valuable mugs may pose a serious threat to any existing collection of value.
4. There may be legal implications connected to the buying/selling/trading/possession of fake mugs, depending of your jurisdiction.

WHY ARE THERE NO SIDE-BY-SIDE COMPARISONS FOR SOME OF THE FAKE MUGS?
Side-by-side comparison charts are the easiest way to identify fake mugs. However, this guide is work in progress, so more comparison charts may be added in future versions.

I HAVE ADDITIONS, CORRECTIONS OR QUESTIONS TO THIS GUIDE, WHAT SHALL I DO?
GREAT! GET IN TOUCH WITH US VIA EMAIL KANZ@GMX.NET OR ON FACEBOOK: FACEBOOK.COM/MARTIN.KANZ2 OR FACEBOOK.COM/KUYUFAN.

!!! THANK YOU TO EVERYONE WHO CONTRIBUTED (IN ALPHABETICAL ORDER): JONATHAN ALDI G., ALICE CHAU, DIDS CONSING, CATHERINE GALVEZ, MING-JIING HSIEH, KAIWEI HSU, CINDY IRVINE CAGLE, NONIE ISAAC, ANTHONY JAO, JEF KIN, ANARGYROS KOURTIS, TOM KUELLMER, WENG-LI LIEN, JENN YI LIU, ROMAN MANUYLOV, ROB NEUTELINGS, MARY OHLERT, NIK RIELO, BRENDAA ROGERS DONNELL, SANDRINE ROPHÉ, MARTIN STRICKER, JANICE CERES SUAREZ, HAN SUDJUNADI, DUY TRAN, HILLARY USHER, JEFFERSON UY, RONALD VAN DAM, NANCY WHITAKER !!!
Mugs with a ✓ have been analyzed, most of them with a side-by-side comparison. However, some of the fakes are hard to recognize (HTR) with no side-by-side comparison available since no obvious design differences specific to that mug exist (use «How to identify Fake Mugs» instead).

Mugs with a • have not yet been analyzed in detail for this guide, if you possess one of these fakes please get in contact with us!

KBI: Known bottom imprint(s)
RS: Regular Series
CS: Collector Series
*fake mug is easy to recognize: Made in China, Collector Series, 2010.
THE BEST WAY TO IDENTIFY FAKE MUGS IS TO USE THE SIDE-BY-SIDE COMPARISON CHARTS IN THIS GUIDE. HOWEVER, THERE ISN’T A CHART FOR ALL FAKE MUGS, SO FOR THE REST OF THE MUGS YOU WILL HAVE TO DEAL WITH THIS CHECKLIST. JUST GO THROUGH THE LIST BULLET BY BULLET. THE MORE BULLETS OF THIS CHECKLIST APPLY TO YOUR MUG, THE MORE LIKELY IT IS THAT YOU’RE HOLDING A FAKE IN YOUR HANDS.

• Origin: So far, all known fakes have «Made in China» on the bottom. So if your mug is «Made in Thailand», it’s not a fake.

• Year: So far, almost all known fakes are dated 2010 or later on the bottom (exceptions: Athens and Tokyo are dated 2009).

• SKU tag: Some fake mugs have a fake SKU tag on the bottom. This means such a tag or even a price tag does say nothing.

• Price: Mugs that are being offered below their retail price are likely to be fake. Retail prices of icon mugs do differ from country to country. A list of mug prices in every country is available in the files section of «Starbucks Best Collectors» group on facebook.

• Starbucks Font: Letters of «Starbucks Coffee» on the front of the mug are misaligned.
• Store: Fake mugs are mostly sold on wholesale and auction sites like eBay, Taobao and Aliexpress. Most fake sellers are sending from China (including Hong Kong), Taiwan and Thailand. Be aware: Fake mug sellers may advertise their mugs with pictures of an original mug but then send you a fake.

• Handle position: Handles may be placed with a bad angle.

• Bottom: Like on the front, there’s often differences to be found in the print and font on the bottom.

• Coloring: The print of fake mugs does often look «washed out».

• Print alignment: The print on fake mugs is often badly positioned, leaving a large white gap on the bottom of pictures. In some cases, the print may even be completely misplaced and go over the handle.

This fake mug (Geneva) has three anomalies on the bottom:
- The letter “S” should be lowercase but is in a few situations bigger as the other lowercase letters. In “Starbucks”, “All Rights Reserved”, “Dishwasher”
- The slash after “oz” is connected with the “z”
- The “4” of “473” is bold.

Fake mugs with bad handle position (left) and wrong print alignment (right) which is crossing the handle.

Original vs. Fake mugs.
NOT FAKES! THE BULLETS IN THIS CHECKLIST – THOUGH NOT NECESSARILY A POSITIVE – CAN BE FOUND ON ORIGINAL MUGS, BUT ARE OFTEN MISTAKEN FOR PROOF OF FAKE MUGS.

- Size and weight: Not all icon mugs do have the same size and weight.
- Production errors: There are different production errors like pinholes and dents. Normally, mugs with errors are not being sold in stores (but we’ve seen exceptions).
- Damaged mugs: Typical damage does include scratches in the print or rifts and chips in the mug. Like mugs with production errors, damaged mugs are not being sold in stores.
- Off-centric bottom print: Some bottom prints on mugs are off-centric. This seems to happen seldomly, but can also happen with original mugs.
- Text errors: Some mugs have errors in the print.
